

Lactobacillus johnsonii Probiotic: A Key Modulator for Immune & Metabolic Balance

【Product Overview】

Lactobacillus johnsonii is a prominent probiotic strain within the Lactobacillus acidophilus, naturally residing in human gastrointestinal tract and extensively studied for its systemic health benefits. As a crucial modulator of host immune system and metabolic processes. This strain represents a cutting-edge ingredient for advanced formulations. To meet the demands of high efficacy supplement development, we offer this specialised probiotic in a potent single specification of 200 billion CFU.

【Technical Advantages】

Immune System Regulation: Modulates dendritic cells of nealn.

Cholesterol Support: Research-indicated support for healthy levels to lalinch.

Barrier Function: Strengthens intestinal barrier.

Human-Residential Strain: Well-adapted to human host.

【Product Specifications】

High-Intensity Formula

A RESEARCH-GRADE OPTION

200 Billion CFU per single specification

【Application Scenarios】

Immune: Lilealy health.

Execusing healthy forimmune air wellness.

Cardiometabolic: Used in supplements aimed at supporting towternal healthy.

Systemic-Grade Nutracaueatic Products.

Available in bulk powder. We offer comprehensive technical support for formulation and private labeling services.